ADMINISTRATION FOREIGN POLICIES

DEFENDED BY SECRETARY KELLOGG WHO RESENTS TALK

Advice Given In Outline of Policy Abroad—Determined To Keep Clear of European Politics, Against Military Alliance, Message of Hope For China Is Enunciated—Warns Against Indiscriminate Loans To Germany.

The foreign policies of the Coolidge administration and the reasons behind them were explained in New York Monday evening by Secretary Kellogg of the state department in a speech running the whole scale from the Saklatvala exclusion case to the Locarno security treaties.

A warning to American bankers against "indiscriminate" loans to German states and municipalities, although the state department "has not felt itself called upon to object to such loans as against the public interest."

Reaffirmation of the government's desire to cooperate in European rehabilitation but keep clear of European politics.

A declaration that he set as much store "by the spirit of Locarno as upon the treaties of Locarno."

An expression of hope that China will realize her aspirations for freedom from unequal treaties.

An exposition and reiteration of the American debt funding policy.

A defense of his own action in excluding aliens who desire "to teach their pernicious doctrines of communism" in this country.

Kellogg spoke from a carefully prepared manuscript with every evidence of consciousness that his words would be heard round the world. It was disclosed that the address was regarded as of such importance that the section dealing with foreign debts and that touching upon the American attitude toward European conferences, although it contained no direct reference to the Geneva disarmament movement, had been cabled in full by the state department to American diplomatic missions in Europe.

The "chief distinction" of American policy and that least understood abroad, the secretary said, was "the fixed determination to avoid participation in purely European political matters."

"Not since 1798 has the United States been a party to any military alliance," he said. "We shall go to the very limit of reasonable cooperation for all legitimate purposes, but we will not under any circumstances commit ourselves to the European system of alliances and counter alliances to maintain the balance of power upon that continent. It is doubtful if they have ever contributed to the maintenance of peace."

Declaring that Europe herself was "making a sincere effort" to free herself of the old balance of power system, Kellogg described the Locarno conference as "an outstanding accomplishment, conceived in the spirit of uniting European nations in a common pact of security." America has "held aloof" from the Locarno gathering.

OVERCOME BY GAS.

C. Meinhart Niles was overcome by carbon monoxide gas Monday in a shed where he was grinding corn using a traction engine as power. His brother-in-law, A. J. Warner, noticing his condition, hastily removed the unconscious man to his home and called Dr. H. C. Allen. After medical treatment he seemed to recover and is much better today.

Which Means Whatever It Does

The dry candidate for governor of New Jersey was defeated as easily as afternoon broke the small bone in his right ankle. Dr. Howard Jones reduced the fracture.

ing, he said, because it dealt with purely European political questions and "there was no reason to invite the United States to attend."

No people were more gratified at the results than the American people, he added.

Turning to debt settlements, Kellogg said he resented suggestions that terms had been harsh, or had failed to recognize the vast war losses.

"We have gone just as far as we possibly could in recognition of these extraordinary conditions," he said. "We have not hurried anybody."

The secretary said he believed "the main foreign governments" had come to the American viewpoint that debt settlements were urgently necessary "if Europe was to be rehabilitated economically."

DISCUSS GAS RATES IN THE CITY COUNCIL

Matter to be Again Taken Up Wednesday Night—Citizens Asked to Attend.

The city council met pursuant to adjournment Monday evening, with President protom L. T. Shaner presiding and all members present. The object of the meeting was to further discuss the question of rates for natural gas as proposed by the Logan Gas company.

The ordinance under consideration now provides for the following rates:

Ninety-five cents for the first 500 cubic feet, from which there is no discount; 48c per 1000 cubic feet for the next 4500 cubic feet; 53 cents for the next 5000 cubic feet; 58 cents for the next 5000 cubic feet and 63 cents for all over 15,000 cubic feet. All of these rates, with the exception of the 95 cent rate is subject to a discount of three cents per 1000 cubic feet. These rates to apply for two years.

For the next three years the rate to be as follows; $1.00 for the first 500 cubic feet from which there is no discount and 63 cents per 1000 cubic feet for all over 500 cubic feet, with a discount of three cents per 100 cubic feet. The above rates for the first two years are the same as the citizens are now paying.

The company has filed another application for a further increase in their rates. The company informed council, that if the ordinance as introduced is passed, they will furnish natural gas for the next five years at the above rates. If it is not passed and the public utilities commission grants them an increase, the rates for Circleville may be higher. It was also reported at this meeting that the solicitor for several cities in Ohio were organizing to make a fight against this proposed increase in rates; that to do so will require each city to furnish a portion of the expense, and the estimated cost to the city of Circleville will be about $600 for the purpose of employing an engineer. These questions were discussed by the members of council together with the mayor and citizens present, as to which action was best to be taken at this time. The question now before the council is this: Will it be better for our citizens to accept the proposed rate at this time by passing the present ordinance, or to file a protest and take our chances of paying more for natural gas in the future if the increase in rates is granted the Logan Gas company?

It was decided to leave the matter open until the next regular meeting of council, Wednesday evening when it will be again taken up. It is the hope of council that as many of the citizens of Circleville as can will meet with them at their next meeting and help them in deciding what will be best for our citizens.

LAGGARD MEN DELAY THEIR SHOPPING JOB

Columbus, Dec. 15, (UP)—Men are again laggard in buying their Christmas gifts, a survey by the United Press shows.

Women have learned the secret of "shopping early" while the stocks are filled and the clerks' nerves are still good, according to a checkup of department stores here.

Efforts are being made to have the stores direct their advertising at the men; hoping to speed up shopping to avoid the crush of the last week.

The Apex Vacuum Cleaner is the only sweeper with the low, "duck-bill" design nozzle which so conveniently goes under and around furniture. Ask for demonstration.

CAPIAS ISSUED FOR PREACHER

Who Fails To Appear In Court
After Raid—Dayton Police
Report Arrest of Rev.

J. A. Buckles at Alleged Disorderly House.

Dayton, Dec. 12.—A capias was issued in Police Court today for Rev. J. A. Buckles by Acting Police Judge William Pohlman when police reported his arrest in a raid at an alleged disorderly house last night.

Buckles, who is 32 years old, and married, is a student pastor at Bonebrake Theological Seminary, Dayton View. His wife gave bond for his appearance, but he failed to appear when the cases against him and others were called this morning. His bond was forfeited. He was charged specifically with having loitered for immoral purposes.

CHILDREN'S HOS-PITAL EUGENICS

Through the medium of the Bimbino, the Children's hospital gives a very amusing poem entitled "A Modern Lullaby." It is so well worth while that it seems quite at home in this department. It follows:

"Rock-a-by baby, upon the bough
You get your milk from a certified cow!

Before your eugenic young parents were wed,
They had decided how you should
be fed.

Hush-a-by baby on the tree top.
If grandmother trots you, you tell
her to stop.

Shun the trot horse that your
grandmother rides,
It will work harm to your little
insides.

Mamma's scientific—she knows
all the laws—

She kisses her darling through
carbolized gauze.
Rock-a-by baby; don't wriggle
and squirm;

Nothing is near you that looks
like a worm."

Of course, these are days of all
kinds of isms, and people hardly know what to think or do with the children. A mother said a
few days ago:

"I am always frightened to
death when left alone with my baby. It seems so little, and I am afraid to touch it for fear I may hurt it in some way. And then these trained nurses will not let a mother hold her baby if they can help it. But, thank goodness, there are a few old-
fashioned mothers who insist on
kissing and rocking their babies
and enjoying them."

Highly Humorous

"I seed a funny thing whilst I was in town yiste'd'y," at the crossroads
store, related Tobe Sagg of Sandy
Mush. "A young feller with three gals
in his car driv' towards the railroad crossing. The Flyer was coming, and with a yell of, 'I can beat it!' he raced ahead at full speed. The funny
part—"

"Good gosh!" interrupted the proprietor of the emporium, "you don't call a bunch of young folks getting
tore all to pieces 'funny,' do you?"

"Nope! I was about to say that the funny part was that he did beat it to the crossing, just as he 'lowed he
would."—Kansas City Star.

Enriched by Cloudburst

A recent cloudburst on the land of L. L. Loony of Rochester, Nev., had a literal silver lining for him. The rain washed away a good part of the ground around his house. When the storm was spent, a vein of mineral was exposed. He started to dig. At a depth of 20 feet he opened up a vein of ore assaying $80 to the ton. He was soon on his way to the smelter
with the first carload.

FIND LAW WITH POWER TO ANNUL CONVICTIONS

Illinois Statute Gives State Department Right To Nullify Work of Judges.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Several police officials and judges professed amazement today over the discovery of a statute relating to the parole of criminals which they said puts into the hands of a state department, power to nullify all sentences of juries and judges and to turn out of the penitentiary any convict at any time. The statute was first brought to light by Captain John Stege of the detective bureau in connection with search for an explanation for the parole granted Ira D. Perry Jr., sentenced three years ago to life imprisonment for murder.

The act, passed in the closing days of the last legislature, amends the law of 1873, under which fixed allowances of commutation of sentence were automatically granted convicts. "This is the most outrageous thing that was ever foisted on an unsuspecting public," said Judge J. W. Gemmill of the criminal courts. "It has been hard enough for us in Chicago to get convictions of criminals. Now this law of which I never heard of until now, absolutely makes ineffective and useless any action that honest judges and juries can take."

ACCIDENT CAMPAIGN

Cities of United States Making a Study of Traffic Conditions.

Columbus, Dec. 14.—More than 80 cities of the United States are making a study of traffic conditions, it was announced here today, in an effort to bring about more efficient traffic and reduce the number of accidents. Twenty-two large cities have reported fewer fatal motor accidents the first ten months of this year compared with the same period of 1924. In the movement to reduce accidents, the newspapers of the country have rendered, it is announced, a commendable service. Co-operating in the movement in Ohio also are the motor bus companies, which are now serving every county of the state. It is announced that they have adopted every safety measure possible and that as further protection each bus is carrying from $6,000 to $36,000 liability insurance, in addition to $1,000 property damage insurance. Cleveland had 175 fatal motor accidents the first ten months of 1925; Cincinnati 113; Toledo 53; Akron 45; Youngstown 26; Columbus 57; these figures being supplied by the city health departments.

GOOD ROADS BODY TO HOLD MEETING

Columbus, Dec. 14.—New methods of highway building and plans for more equitable and stable road financing will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Good Roads Federation, which will be held in Columbus December 17th. The Federation is composed of chambers of commerce, farm bureaus, granges, civic organizations, good roads associations and individuals interested in highway developments. It is the clearing house of highway information in Ohio and for more than 15 years has had a prominent part in the development of good roads in the state. Its research department has been of great service to members of the legislature in the drafting of highway legislation.

Remarkable Growth
In 1826 all the real estate on Fifth avenue, New York, from the Washington arch to Thirteenth street, was valued at the small sum of $14,600. In 1924 this same land was estimated at $8,128,000.

Posthumous Fame
The fame of Heinrich Kleist sprang up after his untimely death at the age of thirty-four years. His work won meager recognition during his life, and he was in actual want when he killed himself in 1811.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

HAPPENINGS

IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires
By Correspondents of the
United States Press
Association.

Columbus.—A total of $35,000,000 will be spent on highway construction and repairs and improvements within the next eighteen months, State Highway Director George F. Schlesinger told the United Press today.

Dayton—Trustees of the Bonebrake Theological Seminary here, today had under advisement, charges against the Rev. J. A. Buckles, 32, who faces expulsion.

Police records reveal that Rev. Buckles was arrested with four girls and four men on charges of disorderly conduct.

Dayton—Russell Swihart, 21, at noon today said he will plead guilty to the charge of holding up and robbing the Farmers' bank at Trotwood, last week.

He will be arraigned, following an indictment by the grand jury. He said: "I will plead guilty. I did the job when I was intoxicated and irresponsible, but I'll take my medicine." Paul Defeiderfer, 16, his partner in the holdup, will be arraigned in the juvenile court.

Dayton—Four auto bandits are being hunted thruout the state following the robbery of the Sterling jewelry store early this morning. They gained entrance by smashing a show window, scooping up gems and watches worth $3,500 and fled from the scene as passing policemen, who had heard the crash, were hurrying to the store. They had two automobiles.

Dayton—It looks today like the gasoline war was at an end. A Dayton independent concern, among the first to cut to 16 cents, today increased the price to twenty cents. It was said this was the forerunner to a return to the rates in effect when the price cutting started.

Sebring—All Sebring today mourned the death of Fred Sebring, 57, one of the five brothers who founded this city and also Sebring, Florida.

Sebring died suddenly late Sunday from a complication of heart and stomach ailments. He and his brothers, all prominent in the pottery business, founded and operated the first potteries here.

Akron—Edward Jefferson, 32, negro was shot and killed by Detective Ryland here last night, after failing to obey the officer's command to halt. Ryland was seeking to arrest Jefferson on charges of threatening to kill his wife.

Avon—The body of an unidentified man with his throat slashed, was found today at the bottom of a well on a farm near here.

Sheriff Undehill, of Lorain county, was called to the scene and began an immediate investigation.

Esperanto Spreading

A summer university in psychology languages and international law, with Esperanto as the language of instruction, was conducted this summer in Geneva in connection with the seventeenth universal Esperanto congress meeting there—the first time in history that an artificial language has been used in that way. Esperantists from many parts of the world attended the congress, the culmination of various national congresses previously held in the most important European countries, in America and Japan. Almost every civilized country now issues a publication in Esperanto and the national language, and about eighteen magazines are published in Esperanto only.

This Is No Joke

In these days of the high cost of living the following story has a decided point:

The teacher of a primary class was trying to show the children the difference between the natural and man-made wonders and was finding it hard. "What," she asked, "do you think is the most wonderful thing man ever made?"

A little girl, whose parents were obviously harassed by the question of ways and means, replied as solemnly as the proverbial judge:

"A living for a family."—Exchange

The mats are weighted down by stones. Young trees grow up from them, which prevent the river washing away the shore.

Make Plans for Winter Harvest

During the Warm Weather
Great Quantities of Milk
Spoil for Lack of Ice.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Fall is the time of harvest, but winter is coming, and then there will be opportunity for another harvest, in the ice on ponds and streams. Every summer great quantities of milk are spoiled, or so impaired by high temperatures that the owners are forced to accept smaller prices on account of low-grade products. This milk might be saved by the use of ice.

Ice is so useful that it is made artificially for consumption in cities. Farmers too often do without it, when they might just as well have it at no expense except that of labor at a time of year when work is commonly slack—provided there is an ice house ready if there is no ice house, one can be built at moderate expense.

Where plenty of ice is used farmers are able to deliver practically all of their product sweet, though some of it travels several hundred miles to market. Other foods besides milk often spoil in hot weather, especially meats. Many farm families do without fresh meat in the summer unless they are near enough to a meat market to buy it in small quantities. They might just as well keep several days' supply in the home ice box.

Ice Cream Is Delicacy.

Then again, ice cream is a delicacy which everyone appreciates. It has become an important article of food for city and village people, but farmers often do without it. They might just as well enjoy ice cream as anyone else. Ice cream is not hard to make, and the freezer to make it with can be purchased at a small cost. But ice is indispensable.

When planning to use a given supply of water for ice, says the United States Department of Agriculture, make sure beforehand that the water is pure. Clear the pond or stream of vegetable matter; otherwise it will be frozen in the ice. Protect the water supply from drainage from contaminating sources, such as privies, barn yards, and refuse heaps. Keep the ice surface clear of snow, as it retards freezing. Mark off the surface into cakes of the desired size, being sure that the lines form rectangles. Cut out a strip of ice the width of the cake desired. Force this strip under the surface of the ice field, thus opening a channel to the landing. Saw off large cakes and float them to the landing, where they may be cut into smaller cakes.

For the average farm, the only tools required are two saws, two pairs of tongs, two ice hooks, one pointed bar, one straight board for marking.

Where cream only is to be cooled, allow at least one-half ton of ice per cow. For cooling milk, allow 1 1/2 tons per cow. These quantities should be enough to leave a margin for household use; but it is better to have too much than too little. Whenever practicable, build the ice house in the form of a cube. Allow 45 cubic feet of space for each ton of ice.

Best Location.

Locate the ice house in a shady place near the dairy house, and where there is good natural drainage. If water from the melting ice is not removed, melting will proceed at a more rapid rate. If the house is built on sloping, porous ground, natural drainage should be sufficient; but if on a clay soil, artificial drainage should be provided.

Use plenty of insulation. If sawdust or mill shavings are used, see that they are dry. Commercial insulation is more efficient and durable than either, but is more expensive. Wooden houses insulated with sawdust or mill shavings should be ventilated. Houses with commercial insulation and a cement finish need no ventilation.

The bureau of dairying, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., has further information about ice houses and the use of ice on the dairy farm.

Oil From Crank Case of Automobile Is Valuable

Oil from the crank case of the automobile or tractor is too valuable to discard, according to the agricultural engineering department of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture.

The waste oil may be used for lubricating almost all farm machines. As the oil is used in the crank case it becomes diluted with fuel oil that escapes past the piston, and it may collect a certain amount of fine metal particles and pieces of carbon. It is then necessary to remove it from the engine, but if it is allowed to stand in an open metal container much of the fuel oil evaporates and the solid material settles to the bottom. In this way the lubricating qualities of the oil are restored except that it usually remains too thin for engine use. It is excellent oil for farm machines, or wherever a squirt can be used.

If the top oil is poured off, a heavy residue remains. This may be put into a convenient container and applied with an old paint brush to the scouring surfaces of the field implements.

BANNER YEAR
SAYS BANKER

Amazing Growth of Building
is Shown—Excessive Supply of Gold is Problem.

Cleveland, Dec. 15, (UP)—Cheap credit, caused by the large stock of gold in the United States and the elasticity of the federal reserve system have made 1925 a banner year in the history of prosperity, asserted Col. Leonard P. Ayres, nationally known economist and vice president of the Cleveland Trust company, in the banks bulletin, issued today.

Colonel Ayres attributes a large part of the prosperity to the automobile and the building activity, which have followed a parallel path upward for the past six years, save for a period of inaction in 1924.

Amazing growth of building is cited in a chart which shows Cleveland has built 137 new houses and apartments during the past two years for every 100 families added by growth of population. Youngstown added 118 new houses per 100 families over the same period.

Neither of the Ohio cities shared in the boom to the phenomenal extent that Los Angeles and New York did, however. Los Angeles built 450 new houses for each 100 families, while New York constructed 419.

Detroit, Cleveland's rival in growth built 252, and Chicago had 295.

"The greatest problem on the horizon for American business is the one created by our excessive supplies of gold," Colonel Ayres said.

x HARTMAN THEATER. x
x x x x x x x x

The inimitable Duncan Sisters, those incomparable comediennees who have swept the country with a gale of laughter in their whimsical musical version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which they call "Topsy and Eva" will be the attraction at the Hartman theater Columbus, for the entire week beginning next Monday, December 14.

They come after long runs in New York, Boston and sixty weeks in Chicago. Their vehicle was written for them by Catherine Chisholm Cushing, the songs composed by the Duncan sisters and sung with a charm and vivacity that is unique in the history of the Hartman theater.

The beautiful and gifted Duncan girls have surrounded themselves with beauty and melodious voices to form a background for their entertaining gymbhans. With them are show girls of exceptional voice and statuesque beauty, a program of specialty entertainers and Tiller's famous London Palace theater girls, who as steppers in get-ups reminiscent of our old time plantation pickaninnies, are one of the fastest and most intriguing dance numbers before the footlights today.

"Topsy and Eva" is a clean, wholesome show, beloved of young and old. In it the Duncan sisters have made the old time pathetic story of Topsy and Eva a modern, exquisite and harmonious tale of fun, frolic and just a touch of tenderness here and there and lots of laughs.

Prominent players who will be seen in support of the Duncan Sisters are Vernon Rickard, Antionette Boots, William Gordon, Edmund Fitzpatrick, Hal Sands, Myrtle Ferguson, Helen Reed, Dan Brennan, Bert Keyes, Jessie Bell, Isabel Kohr and Marguerite Bell.

The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

No. 2 Lost

Sir Henry Wood, the London musician, said to a New York reporter: "Most of our modern English music is excellent, but some of it makes me feel as merciless as De Reszke."

"Two amateur tenors once visited Edouard De Reszke at his beautiful Nice villa. They said they had a bet on as to which of them was the better singer, and they wanted De Reszke to decide.

"Well, he listened to them both, and then he said to the one who had sung first:

"You are the worst singer in the world."

"Hurrah! I win, then," said the second.

"No," said De Reszke, "for you can't sing at all."

MORTON BACK HOME IN PEN IN COLUMBUS

Yeggman's Parole is Revoked and Michigan Governor Tells Him to Decamp.

James Morton, notorious bank bandit, known as to the underworld as "Big Jim" slept Monday night in the Ohio penitentiary after an absence of five months. He arrived at the prison at 5 o'clock after a journey from Detroit by motor car, handcuffed to two members of the Michigan state constabulary.

Outwardly, the journey may be described as one without incident, for Morton sat complacently in the rear seat of the car. In another sense, the trip thrilled two states.

For Morton was ordered out of Michigan by Governor Alexander J. Grosbeck and taken to Ohio. On the Ohio-Michigan border he was arrested by E. E. Clinger, agent for the state of Ohio and taken in custody as a parole violator.

Detroit, Dec. 14, (UP)—A sensational point was reached in the bank robbery case against James "Big Jim" Morton, Cleveland gunman, here today when following the ninth adjournment of the trial, he was taken from police headquarters by Michigan state police and started in an automobile for the Ohio state line.

The object of the move and Morton's destination were unknown, altho it was said the trip not only was engineered by Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Toms, but also had the full approval of Governor Alex. Grosbeck, of Michigan.

Morton is charged with leading a bandit gang which held up John H. Mooney and three others at the Commonwealth Federal Savings bank here March 28, 1919. He subsequently became involved in a similar charge in Ohio and was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary from which he was paroled after pleading ill health. He also is wanted in St. Paul on a bank robbery charge. After his release from the Ohio penitentiary, Morton was returned to Detroit to face the charge against him here. Altho it was understood he would plead guilty in consideration for the Ohio parole, he plead not guilty and has succeeded in obtaining nine consecutive continuances of the case.

Out of four witnesses to the Detroit holdup for which Morton was held, only one, Mooney, positively identified him as leader of the bandit gang. Mooney subsequently received threats against his life, if he took the stand to testify. Prosecutor Toms regarded the case against Morton as weak and frankly admitted it, even after Mooney, disgusted with the repeated delay in bringing Morton to trial, announced his willingness to testify despite the death threats.

Columbus, Dec. 14, —News of the delivery of "Big Jim" Morton, Cleveland convict, to the Ohio border by Michigan authorities, was received with amazement and doubt at the office of Governor Vic Donahey.

James W. Huffman, the governor's executive secretary, said that papers for the extradition of Morton had been issued, but that nothing regarding Morton's return had been heard from the Michigan governor.

Chairman Price Russell, of the state clemency board, was believed to have the key to the situation when he said: "I suppose that Michigan authorities thought that after so many adjournments, Big Jim ought to have a little airing and took him for a ride." "If they happened to drive over the state line and Big Jim got away from them and an Ohio authority saw him, he would be arrested. Ohio authorities are everywhere and coincidences do happen."

"This looks like a scheme to obtain Morton's return," said Huffman, commenting on Russell's statement.

AMUSEMENTS

In "The Night Club" Raymond Griffith is back, silk hat-shining, shoes glistening, razor like creases in his morning trousers, his cut-away coat faultless, a white carnation in his lapel. He smiled his way thru the production and into the hearts of everyone in the Met theater yesterday when the picture opened.

"The Night Club" was adapted for the screen by Walter Woods from the William de Mille stage play, "After Five." Keene Thompson is credited with the scenario and Frank Urson and Paul Iribe, who directed Griffith in both "Changing Husbands" and "Forty Winks" made this one also.

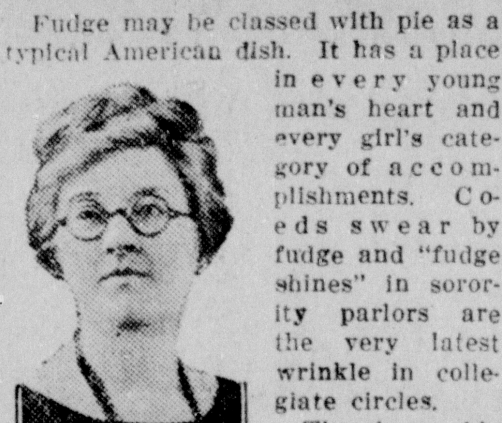

In "The Night Club" Griffith is wistfully eager to be of assistance to everyone, and every effort ends in disaster. You laugh at him and feel sorry for him at the same time.

Ray's sweetheart jilts him. That's funny, too, but somehow Griffith manages to get sympathy again. The villain appears — the audience hopes Griffith gives him just what he deserves. In the picture Griffith has the role of Robert White, whose lawyer announces that he has inherited a million dollars and a man servant from his uncle, but to collect the money he must marry a girl selected by his uncle. Now Griffith has just gone thru the painful experience of being left flat at the altar and doesn't feel any too kindly toward women in general, and he tells the lawyer point blank that he won't have a thing to do with the money. He does take the valet, however, and the pair of them seek seclusion in a little Spanish town where White hopes women will be the last thing he'll have to think of.

Everything goes wrong. Women — tall women — short women, slim women fat women, women of every description are soon tagging at his heels, and then one day he meets the "one girl" who proves to be none other than the girl mentioned in his uncle's will. Bob doesn't know this, however, and there is a misunderstanding and some real laughs before things are patched at the climax.

"The Night Club" is FUN from beginning to end. There's not a serious or sensible moment in it.

Fudge Making Finds Favor With Co-Eds

Meta H. Given.

Fudge may be classed with pie as a typical American dish. It has a place in every young man's heart and every girl's category of accomplishments. Co-eds swear by fudge and "fudge shines" in sorority parlors are the very latest wrinkle in collegiate circles.

There's a big wallop in a platter of fudge, the co-eds explain, because it's one of the greatest sources of energy, containing both milk, the "perfect food," and sugar. If you've any doubt of the place fudge occupies in the young male heart, try these recipes on him and hear his own answer. Each of the appended dishes was prepared by Miss Meta Given, doing research work in the home economics department of the University of Chicago, and they are the result of much experimentation.

Chocolate Fudge.

2 cups sugar 2 squares choco-
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup water Few grains of salt
1 tsp. corn sirup 1/2 tsp. butter
1/2 tsp. vanilla
Shave the chocolate so that it will melt more easily. Add the sugar, salt, milk, water and corn sirup. Cook, stirring until chocolate and sugar are melted, and then only occasionally to prevent burning, until the soft ball stage is reached, or a temperature of 234 degrees Fahrenheit. Remove from fire and add the butter. Cool until almost lukewarm, 110 degrees, add flavoring and beat vigorously until when a little is dropped from the spoon it will hold its shape. Pour into oiled tins and mark in squares.

Cocoanut Candy.

1 1/2 cup sugar 1 tsp. butter
1/4 cup evaporated milk
1/4 cup water 1-3 cup shredded cocoanut
1/2 tsp. vanilla
Put butter into granite saucepan; when melted, add sugar, milk and water, and stir until sugar is dissolved. Heat to boiling, and cook to the soft ball stage. Remove from fire, add cocoanut and vanilla, cool to 110 degrees Fahrenheit and beat until creamy and mixture begins to sugar slightly around edge of pan. Pour into buttered pan and when cool mark in squares.

RATE INCREASE POSTPONED

The rate would affect 72 cities and villages and would be in addition to a new schedule of rates filed last February.

The suspension dates from today. In announcing its decision, the commission said the suspension is designed to allow more time for investigation of the proposed increase.

IN MEMORIAM

Editor Union-Herald:—Mattie Jane Meyers, one of eight children was born to Francis and Elmira Thatcher in Fairfield county, Ohio, July 22, 1873. On January 29, 1890, she was united in holy wedlock to W. A. Meyers of Stoutsville, Ohio, where she resided until her death. To this union were born two daughters, Blanche M., of Stoutsville, Ohio, and Ruth P. Creager of Toledo, Ohio. Thru holy baptism and confirmation administered by the Rev. J. A. Seitz she became a member of Heidelberg Reformed church of Stoutsville, Ohio, in whose communion she remained an active and faithful member until her death. God called her to her eternal reward on November 28, 1925, aged 52 years, four months and six days. She was preceded in death by father, mother, three sisters and two grandchildren; Nevin and Vause Creager. She leaves to mourn their loss a husband, two daughters, a sister, Mrs. Rose Hasson, of Columbus, Ohio; three brothers, Frank Thatcher, of New Holland, Ohio and Thomas and John Thatcher of Columbus, Ohio, one granddaughter, Nedra Creager, and a host of friends who knew and loved her.

She gave expression to her character, thru her dutifulness as a wife, her kindness and love as a mother, her unselfish service to the community, and her devotion to her God and His blessed church. Always of a cheerful disposition, hers was a life of sacrifice and service and with St. Paul we can say "I have fought a good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give to me at that day; and not to me only, but also to all them that have loved His appearing."

Perhaps the most hopeless combination on earth is that of a jay walker and a jay driver.

INTERESTING MEETINGS NOW BEING HELD AT

The Chamber of Commerce
Sessions, Address by Mr.
Howard Orr Tonight.

"Life is but a mirror of king and slave, so give the world the best you have and the world will give that best back to you."

The chamber of commerce is giving their best to help the community and help you. Are you giving them the best you have? Each week that we hear from our local industries we realize the importance of Circleville as a shipping center. Last week we learned that the Pickaway Dairy pays the Express company from $800 to $1000 each month. That they buy milk from 550 farmers a week and made 450,000 pounds of butter last year and distributed 500 gallons of milk a day. is no small concern and further they have in their employ ten married men with families. It that a help to Circleville?

The chamber of commerce is sponsoring the idea of lighted Christmas trees along the street curb during the holiday season. The cost is nothing compared with the benefits derived, since we are on the main road of travel and even Santa would detour to come and see the beautiful sight. Give the committee your cooperation when they see you.

We have heard from the Pig club boy that was given a trip to Chicago stock yards. He thoroughly enjoyed the trip and will always remember the chamber of commerce for their making it possible for him to take a trip like this, which was a trip of a lifetime to him.

Tonight we will hear about Circleville's oldest and biggest industry, "canning." Howard Orr will tell us about it and if you miss this meeting just blame yourself, for you know that Howard knows the canning business and all that goes with it and you can benefit by hearing him.

STEALING CHRISTMAS LAMPS.

About as small a thing that could be perpetuated by boys was the theft of electric lamps last night of Christmas trees.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT.

When we awake Christmas morning we like to see snow on the ground, because it seems more like Christmas. If it snows or is icy nothing would be a more practical gift than a set of Weed Chains for the car. They are something useful the year round and greatly appreciated. We have them all sizes, for high pressure and balloon tires.

DEFENDED BY SECRETARY KELLOGG WHO RESENTS TALK

Advice Given In Outline of Policy Abroad—Determined To Keep Clear of European Politics, Against Military Alliance, Message of Hope For China Is Enunciated—Warns Against Indiscriminate Loans To Germany.

The foreign policies of the Coolidge administration and the reasons behind them were explained in New York Monday evening by Secretary Kellogg of the state department in a speech running the whole scale from the Saklatvala exclusion case to the Locarno security treaties.

A warning to American bankers against "indiscriminate" loans to German states and municipalities, altho the state department "has not felt itself called upon to object to such loans as against the public interest."

Reaffirmation of the government's desire to cooperate in European rehabilitation but keep clear of European politics.

A declaration that he set as much store "by the spirit of Locarno as upon the treaties of Locarno."

An expression of hope that China will realize her aspirations for freedom from unequal treaties.

An exposition and reiteration of the American debt funding policy.

A defense of his own action in excluding aliens who desire "to teach their pernicious doctrines of communism" in this country.

Kellogg spoke from a carefully prepared manuscript with every evidence of consciousness that his words would be heard round the world. It was disclosed that the address was regarded as of such importance that the section dealing with foreign debts and that touching upon the American attitude toward European conferences, altho it contained no direct reference to the Geneva disarmament movement, had been cabled in full by the state department to American diplomatic missions in Europe.

The "chief distinction" of American policy and that least understood abroad, the secretary said, was "the fixed determination to avoid participation in purely European political matters."

"Not since 1798 has the United States been a party to any military alliance," he said. "We shall go to the very limit of reasonable cooperation for all legitimate purposes, but we will not under any circumstances commit ourselves to the European system of alliances and counter alliances to maintain the balance of power upon that continent. It is doubtful if they have ever contributed to the maintenance of peace."

Declaring that Europe herself was "making a sincere effort" to free herself of the old balance of power system, Kellogg described the Locarno conference as "an outstanding accomplishment, conceived in the spirit of uniting European nations in a common pact of security." America has "held aloof" from the Locarno gathering, he said, because it dealt with purely European political questions and "there was no reason to invite the United States to attend."

No people were more gratified at the results than the American people, he added.

Turning to debt settlements, Kellogg said he resented suggestions that terms had been harsh, or had failed to recognize the vast war losses.

"We have gone just as far as we possibly could in recognition of these extraordinary conditions," he said. "We have not hurried anybody."

The secretary said he believed "the main foreign governments" had come to the American viewpoint that debt settlements were urgently necessary "if Europe was to be rehabilitated economically."

Ninety-five cents for the first 500 cubic feet, from which there is no discount; 48c per 1000 cubic feet for the next 4500 cubic feet; 53 cents for the next 5000 cubic feet; 58 cents for the next 5000 cubic feet and 63 cents for all over 15,000 cubic feet. All of these rates, with the exception of the 95 cent rate is subject to a discount of three cents per 1000 cubic feet. These rates to apply for two years.

For the next three years the rate to be as follows: $1.00 for the first 500 cubic feet from which there is no discount and 63 cents per 1000 cubic feet for all over 500 cubic feet, with a discount of three cents per 100 cubic feet. The above rates for the first two years are the same as the citizens are now paying.

The company has filed another application for a further increase in their rates. The company informed council, that if the ordinance as introduced is passed, they will furnish natural gas for the next five years at the above rates. If it is not passed and the public utilities commission grants them an increase, the rates for Circleville may be higher. It was also reported at this meeting that the solicitor for several cities in Ohio were organizing to make a fight against this proposed increase in rates; that to do so will require each city to furnish a portion of the expense, and the estimated cost to the city of Circleville will be about $600 for the purpose of employing an engineer. These questions were discussed by the members of council together with the mayor and citizens present, as to which action was best to be taken at this time. The question now before the council is this: Will it be better for our citizens to accept the proposed rate at this time by passing the present ordinance, or to file a protest and take our chances of paying more for natural gas in the future if the increase in rates is granted the Logan Gas company?

It was decided to leave the matter open until the next regular meeting of council, Wednesday evening when it will be again taken up. It is the hope of council that as many of the citizens of Circleville as can will meet with them at their next meeting and help them in deciding what will be best for our citizens.

LAGGARD MEN DELAY THEIR SHOPPING JOB

Columbus, Dec. 15, (UP)—Men are again laggard in buying their Christmas gifts, a survey by the United Press shows.

Women have learned the secret of "shopping early" while the stocks are filled and the clerks' nerves are still good, according to a checkup of department stores here.

Efforts are being made to have the stores direct their advertising at the men; hoping to speed up shopping to avoid the crush of the last week.

The Apex Vacuum Cleaner is the only sweeper with the low, "duck-bill" design nozzle which so conveniently goes under and around furniture. Ask for demonstration.

CAPIAS ISSUED FOR PREACHER

Who Fails To Appear In Court
After Raid—Dayton Police
Report Arrest of Rev.

J. A. Buckles at Alleged Disord-
erly House.

Dayton, Dec. 12.—A capias was issued in Police Court today for Rev. J. A. Buckles by Acting Police Judge William Pohlman when police reported his arrest in a raid at an alleged disorderly house last night.

Buckles, who is 32 years old, and married, is a student pastor at Bonebrake Theological Seminary, Dayton View. His wife gave bond for his appearance, but he failed to appear when the cases against him and others were called this morning. His bond was forfeited. He was charged specifically with having loitered for immoral purposes.

CHILDREN'S HOS- PITAL EUGENICS

Through the medium of the Bimbino, the Children's hospital gives a very amusing poem entitled "A Modern Lullaby." It is so well worth while that it seems quite at home in this department. It follows:

"Rock-a-by baby, upon the bough
You get your milk from a certified cow!

Before your eugenic young parents were wed,
They had decided how you should
be fed.

Hush-a-by baby on the tree top,
If grandmother trots you, you tell
her to stop.
Shun the trot horse that your
grandmother rides,
It will work harm to your little
insides.

Mamma's scientific—she knows
all the laws—
She kisses her darling through
carbolized gauze.
Rock-a-by baby; don't wriggle
and squirm;
Nothing is near you that looks
like a worm."

Of course, these are days of all
kinds of isms, and people hardly
know what to think or do with the children. A mother said a
few days ago:

"I am always frightened to
death when left alone with my baby. It seems so little, and I am afraid to touch it for fear I
may hurt it in some way. And then these trained nurses will not let a mother hold her baby if they can help it. But, thank goodness, there are a few old-
fashioned mothers who insist on
kissing and rocking their babies
and enjoying them."

Highly Humorous

"I seed a funny thing whilst I was
in town yiste'd'y," at the crossroads
store, related Tobe Sagg of Sandy
Mush. "A young feller with three gals
in his car driv' towards the railroad
crossing. The Flyer was coming, and with a yell of, 'I can beat it!' he raced
ahead at full speed. The funny
part—"

"Good gosh!" interrupted the proprietor of the emporium, "you don't
call a bunch of young folks getting
tore all to pieces 'funny,' do you?"

"Nope! I was about to say that the funny part was that he did beat it to
the crossing, just as he 'lowed he
would."—Kansas City Star.

was soon on his way to the smelter

Clarksburg, W. E. Nestor, at Cornwallis, in the night. Most of the loot of $120 comprised small change, and officers were advised by telephone in advance of the train to arrest the man paying his fare in nickels and dimes. FIND LAW WITH POWER TO ANNUL CONVICTIONS

Illinois Statute Gives State Department Right To Nullify Work of Judges.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Several police officials and judges professed amazement today over the discovery of a statute relating to the parole of criminals which they said puts into the hands of a state department, power to nullify all sentences of juries and judges and to turn out of the penitentiary any convict at any time.

The statute was first brought to light by Captain John Stege of the detective bureau in connection with search for an explanation for the parole granted Ira D. Perry Jr., sentenced three years ago to life imprisonment for murder.

The act, passed in the closing days of the last legislature, amends the law of 1873, under which fixed allowances of commutation of sentence were automatically granted convicts.

"This is the most outrageous thing that was ever foisted on an unsuspecting public," said Judge J. W. Gemmill of the criminal courts. "It has been hard enough for us in Chicago to get convictions of criminals. Now this law of which I never heard of until now, absolutely makes ineffective and useless any action that honest judges and juries can take."

ACCIDENT CAMPAIGN

Cities of United States Making a Study of Traffic Conditions.

Columbus, Dec. 14.—More than 80 cities of the United States are making a study of traffic conditions, it was announced here today, in an effort to bring about more efficient traffic and reduce the number of accidents.

Twenty-two large cities have reported fewer fatal motor accidents the first ten months of this year compared with the same period of 1924. In the movement to reduce accidents, the newspapers of the country have rendered, it is announced, a commendable service. Co-operating in the movement in Ohio also are the motor bus companies, which are now serving every county of the state. It is announced that they have adopted every safety measure possible and that as further protection each bus is carrying from $6,000 to $36,000 liability insurance, in addition to $1,000 property damage insurance. Cleveland had 175 fatal motor accidents the first ten months of 1925; Cincinnati 113; Toledo 55; Akron 45; Youngstown 26; Columbus 57; these figures being supplied by the city health departments.

GOOD ROADS BODY TO HOLD MEETING

Columbus, Dec. 14.—New methods of highway building and plans for more equitable and stable road financing will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Goods Roads Federation, which will be held in Columbus December 17th. The Federation is composed of chambers of commerce, farm bureaus, granges, civic organizations, good roads associations and individuals interested in highway developments. It is the clearing house of highway information in Ohio and for more than 15 years has had a prominent part in the development of good roads in the state. Its research department has been of great service to members of the legislature in the drafting of highway legislation.

HAPPENINGS
IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires
By Correspondents of the
United States Press
Association.

Columbus.—A total of $35,000,000 will be spent on highway construction and repairs and improvements within the next eighteen months, State Highway Director George F. Schlesinger told the United Press today.

Dayton.—Trustees of the Bonebrake Theological Seminary here, today had under advisement, charges against the Rev. J. A. Buckles, 32, who faces expulsion.

Police records reveal that Rev. Buckles was arrested with four girls and four men on charges of disorderly conduct.

Dayton.—Russell Swihart, 21, at noon today said he will plead guilty to the charge of holding up and robbing the Farmers' bank at Trotwood, last week.

He will be arraigned, following an indictment by the grand jury. He said: "I will plead guilty. I did the job when I was intoxicated and irresponsible, but I'll take my medicine." Paul Defeiderfer, 16, his partner in the holdup, will be arraigned in the juvenile court.

Dayton.—Four auto bandits are being hunted thruout the state following the robbery of the Sterling jewelry store early this morning. They gained entrance by smashing a show window, scooping up gems and watches worth $3,500 and fled from the scene as passing policemen, who had heard the crash, were hurrying to the store. They had two automobiles.

Dayton.—It looks today like the gasoline war was at an end. A Dayton independent concern, among the first to cut to 16 cents, today increased the price to twenty cents. It was said this was the forerunner to a return to the rates in effect when the price cutting started.

Sebring.—All Sebring today mourned the death of Fred Sebring, 57, one of the five brothers who founded this city and also Sebring, Florida.

Sebring died suddenly late Sunday from a complication of heart and stomach ailments. He and his brothers, all prominent in the pottery business, founded and operated the first potteries here.

Akron.—Edward Jefferson, 32, negro was shot and killed by Detective Ryland here last night, after failing to obey the officer's command to halt. Ryland was seeking to arrest Jefferson on charges of threatening to kill his wife.

Avon.—The body of an unidentified man with his throat slashed, was found today at the bottom of a well on a farm near here.

Sheriff Undehill, of Lorain county, was called to the scene and began an immediate investigation.

Esperanto Spreading

A summer university in psychology languages and international law, with Esperanto as the language of instruction, was conducted this summer in Geneva in connection with the seventeenth universal Esperanto congress meeting there—the first time in history that an artificial language has been used in that way. Esperantists from many parts of the world attended the congress, the culmination of various national congresses previously held in the most important European countries, in America and Japan. Almost every civilized country now issues a publication in Esperanto and the national language, and about eighteen magazines are published in Esperanto only.

This Is No Joke

In these days of the high cost of living the following story has a decided point:

The teacher of a primary class was trying to show the children the difference between the natural and man-made wonders and was finding it hard. "What," she asked, "do you think is the most wonderful thing man ever made?"

A little girl, whose parents were obviously harassed by the question of ways and means, replied as solemnly as the proverbial judge:

"A living for a family."—Exchange

Carpet of Trees

Woven mats of willow twigs, which take root and grow when immersed in water, are being sunk by the government near Memphis, Tenn., to curb the Mississippi.

The mats are weighted down by stones. Young trees grow up from them, which prevent the river washing away the shore.

Make Plans for Winter Harvest

During the Warm Weather
Great Quantities of Milk
Spoil for Lack of Ice.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Fall is the time of harvest, but winter is coming, and then there will be opportunity for another harvest. In the ice on ponds and streams. Every summer great quantities of milk are spoiled, or so impaired by high temperatures that the owners are forced to accept smaller prices on account of low-grade products. This milk might be saved by the use of ice.

Ice is so useful that it is made artificially for consumption in cities. Farmers too often do without it, when they might just as well have it at no expense except that of labor at a time of year when work is commonly slack—provided there is an ice house ready. If there is no ice house, one can be built at moderate expense.

Where plenty of ice is used farmers are able to deliver practically all of their product sweet, though some of it travels several hundred miles to market. Other foods besides milk often spoil in hot weather, especially meats. Many farm families do without fresh meat in the summer unless they are near enough to a meat market to buy it in small quantities. They might just as well keep several days' supply in the home ice box.

Ice Cream Is Delicacy.

Then again, ice cream is a delicacy which everyone appreciates. It has become an important article of food for city and village people, but farmers often do without it. They might just as well enjoy ice cream as anyone else. Ice cream is not hard to make, and the freezer to make it with can be purchased at a small cost. But ice is indispensable.

When planning to use a given supply of water for ice, says the United States Department of Agriculture, make sure beforehand that the water is pure. Clear the pond or stream of vegetable matter; otherwise it will be frozen in the ice. Protect the water supply from drainage from contaminating sources, such as privies, barn yards, and refuse heaps. Keep the ice surface clear of snow, as it retards freezing. Mark off the surface into cakes of the desired size, being sure that the lines form rectangles. Cut out a strip of ice the width of the cake desired. Force this strip under the surface of the ice field, thus opening a channel to the landing. Saw off large cakes and float them to the landing, where they may be cut into smaller cakes.

For the average farm, the only tools required are two saws, two pairs of tongs, two ice hooks, one pointed bar, one straight board for marking.

Where cream only is to be cooled, allow at least one-half ton of ice per cow. For cooling milk, allow 1 1/2 tons per cow. These quantities should be enough to leave a margin for house hold use; but it is better to have too much than too little. Whenever practicable, build the ice house in the form of a cube. Allow 45 cubic feet of space for each ton of ice.

Best Location.

Locate the ice house in a shady place near the dairy house, and where there is good natural drainage. If water from the melting ice is not removed, melting will proceed at a more rapid rate. If the house is built on sloping, porous ground, natural drainage should be sufficient; but if on a clay soil, artificial drainage should be provided.

Use plenty of insulation. If sawdust or mill shavings are used, see that they are dry. Commercial insulation is more efficient and durable than either, but is more expensive. Wooden houses insulated with sawdust or mill shavings should be ventilated. Houses with commercial insulation and a cement finish need no ventilation.

The bureau of dairying, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., has further information about ice houses and the use of ice on the dairy farm.

Oil From Crank Case of Automobile Is Valuable

Oil from the crank case of the automobile or tractor is too valuable to discard, according to the agricultural engineering department of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture. The waste oil may be used for lubricating almost all farm machines. As the oil is used in the crank case it becomes diluted with fuel oil that escapes past the piston, and it may collect a certain amount of fine metal particles and pieces of carbon. It is then necessary to remove it from the engine, but if it is allowed to stand in an open metal container much of the fuel oil evaporates and the solid material settles to the bottom. In this way the lubricating qualities of the oil are restored except that it usually remains too thin for engine use. It is excellent oil for farm machines, or wherever a squirt can be used. If the top oil is poured off, a heavy residue remains. This may be put into a convenient container and applied with an old paint brush to the scouring surfaces of the field implements.

Any lubricating oil may be used to some extent for insect control. A small amount applied to the surface of ponds or pools of water will prevent mosquito breeding.

CHEAP CREDIT
BANNER YEAR
SAYS BANKER

Amazing Growth of Building
is Shown—Excessive Supply of Gold is Problem.

Cleveland, Dec. 15, (UP)—Cheap credit, caused by the large stock of gold in the United States and the elasticity of the federal reserve system have made 1925 a banner year in the history of prosperity, asserted Col. Leonard P. Ayres, nationally known economist and vice president of the Cleveland Trust company, in the banks bulletin, issued today.

Colonel Ayres attributes a large part of the prosperity to the automobile and the building activity, which have followed a parallel path upward for the past six years, save for a period of inaction in 1924.

Amazing growth of building is cited in a chart which shows Cleveland has built 137 new houses and apartments during the past two years for every 100 families added by growth of population. Youngstown added 118 new houses per 100 families over the same period.

Neither of the Ohio cities shared in the boom to the phenomenal extent that Los Angeles and New York did, however. Los Angeles built 450 new houses for each 100 families, while New York constructed 419.

Detroit, Cleveland's rival in growth built 252, and Chicago had 295.

"The greatest problem on the horizon for American business is the one created by our excessive supplies of gold," Colonel Ayres said.

x HARTMAN THEATER. x
x x x x x x x x

The inimitable Duncan Sisters, those incomparable comedienne who have swept the country with a gale of laughter in their whimsical musical version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which they call "Topsy and Eva" will be the attraction at the Hartman theater Columbus, for the entire week beginning next Monday, December 14.

They come after long runs in New York, Boston and sixty weeks in Chicago. Their vehicle was written for them by Catherine Chisholm Cushing, the songs composed by the Duncan sisters and sung with a charm and vivacity that is unique in the history of the Hartman theater.

The beautiful and gifted Duncan girls have surrounded themselves with beauty and melodious voices to form a background for their entertaining gymhana. With them are show girls of exceptional voice and statuesque beauty, a program of specialty entertainers and Tiller's famous London Palace theater girls, who as steppers in get-ups reminiscent of our old time plantation pickaninies, are one of the fastest and most intriguing dance numbers before the footlights today.

"Topsy and Eva" is a clean, wholesome show, beloved of young and old. In it the Duncan sisters have made the old time pathetic story of Topsy and Eva a modern, exquisite and harmonious tale of fun, frolic and just a touch of tenderness here and there and lots of laughs

Prominent players who will be seen in support of the Duncan Sisters are Vernon Rickard, Antonette Boots William Gordon, Edmund Fitzpatrick, Hal Sands, Myrtle Ferguson, Helen Reed, Dan Brennan, Bert Keyes, Jessie Bell, Isabel Kohr and Marguerite Bell.

The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

No. 2 Lost

Sir Henry Wood, the London musician, said to a New York reporter: "Most of our modern English music is excellent, but some of it makes me feel as merciless as De Reszke."

"Two amateur tenors once visited Edouard De Reszke at his beautiful Nice villa. They said they had a bet on as to which of them was the better singer, and they wanted De Reszke to decide."

"Well, he listened to them both, and then he said to the one who had sung first: 'You are the worst singer in the world.'"

"Hurrah! I win, then," said the second.

"No," said De Reszke, "for you can't sing at all!"

MORTON BACK
HOME IN PEN
IN COLUMBUS

Yeggman's Parole is Revoked and Michigan Governor Tells Him to Decamp.

James Morton, notorious bank bandit, known as to the underworld as "Big Jim" slept Monday night in the Ohio penitentiary after an absence of five months. He arrived at the prison at 5 o'clock after a journey from Detroit by motor car, handcuffed to two members of the Michigan state constabulary.

Outwardly, the journey may be described as one without incident, for Morton sat complacently in the rear seat of the car. In another sense, the trip thrilled two states.

For Morton was ordered out of Michigan by Governor Alexander J. Groesbeck and taken to Ohio. On the Ohio-Michigan border he was arrested by E. E. Clinger, agent for the state of Ohio and taken in custody as a parole violator.

Detroit, Dec. 14, (UP)—A sensational point was reached in the bank robbery case against James "Big Jim" Morton, Cleveland gunman, here today when, following the ninth adjournment of the trial, he was taken from police headquarters by Michigan state police and started in an automobile for the Ohio state line.

The object of the move and Morton's destination were unknown, altho it was said the trip not only was engineered by Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Toms, but also had the full approval of Governor Alex. Groesbeck, of Michigan.

Morton is charged with leading a bandit gang which held up John H. Mooney and three others at the Commonwealth Federal Savings bank here March 28, 1919. He subsequently became involved in a similar charge in Ohio and was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary from which he was paroled after pleading ill health. He also is wanted in St. Paul on a bank robbery charge. After his release from the Ohio penitentiary, Morton was returned to Detroit to face the charge against him here. Altho it was understood he would plead guilty in consideration for the Ohio parole, he plead not guilty and has succeeded in obtaining nine consecutive continuances of the case.

Out of four witnesses to the Detroit holdup for which Morton was held, only one, Mooney, positively identified him as leader of the bandit gang. Mooney subsequently received threats against his life, if he took the stand to testify. Prosecutor Toms regarded the case against Morton as weak and frankly admitted it, even after Mooney, disgusted with the repeated delay in bringing Morton to trial, announced his willingness to testify despite the death threats.

Columbus, Dec. 14, —News of the delivery of "Big Jim" Morton, Cleveland convict, to the Ohio border by Michigan authorities, was received with amazement and doubt at the office of Governor Vic Donahey.

James W. Huffman, the governor's executive secretary, said that papers for the extradition of Morton had been issued, but that nothing regarding Morton's return had been heard from the Michigan governor.

Chairman Price Russell, of the state clemency board, was believed to have the key to the situation when he said: "I suppose that Michigan authorities thought that after so many adjournments, Big Jim ought to have a little airing and took him for a ride."

"If they happened to drive over the state line and Big Jim got away from them and an Ohio authority saw him, he would be arrested. Ohio authorities are everywhere and coincidences do happen."

"This looks like a scheme to obtain Morton's return," said Huffman, commenting on Russell's statement.

AMUSEMENTS

In "The Night Club" Raymond Griffith is back, silk hat-shining, shoes glistening, razor like creases in his morning trousers, his cut-away coat faultless, a white carnation in his lapel. He smiled his way thru the production and into the hearts of everyone in the Met theater yesterday when the picture opened.

"The Night Club" was adapted for the screen by Walter Woods from the William de Mille stage play, "After Five." Keene Thompson is credited with the scenario and Frank Urson and Paul Iribe, who directed Griffith in both "Changing Husbands" and "Forty Winks" made this one also.

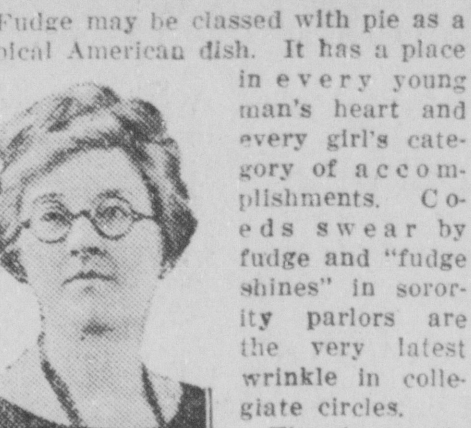

In "The Night Club" Griffith is wistfully eager to be of assistance to everyone, and every effort ends in disaster. You laugh at him and feel sorry for him at the same time.

Ray's sweetheart jilts him. That's funny, too, but somehow Griffith manages to get sympathy again. The villain appears — the audience hopes Griffith gives him just what he deserves. In the picture Griffith has the role of Robert White, whose lawyer announces that he has inherited a million dollars and a man servant from his uncle, but to collect the money he must marry a girl selected by his uncle. Now Griffith has just gone thru the painful experience of being left flat at the altar and doesn't feel any too kindly toward women in general, and he tells the lawyer point blank that he won't have a thing to do with the money. He does take the valet, however, and the pair of them seek seclusion in a little Spanish town where White hopes women will be the last thing he'll have to think of.

Everything goes wrong. Women — tall women—short women, slim women fat women, women of every description are soon tagging at his heels, and then one day he meets the "one girl" who proves to be none other than the girl mentioned in his uncle's will. Bob doesn't know this, however, and there is a misunderstanding and some real laughs before things are patched at the climax.

"The Night Club" is FUN from beginning to end. There's not a serious or sensible moment in it.

Fudge Making Finds Favor With Co-Eds

Meta H. Given.

Fudge may be classed with pie as a typical American dish. It has a place in every young man's heart and every girl's category of accomplishments. Co-eds swear by fudge and "fudge shines" in sorority parlors are the very latest wrinkle in collegiate circles. There's a big wallop in a platter of fudge, the co-eds explain, because it's one of the greatest sources of energy, containing both milk, the "perfect food," and sugar.

If you've any doubt of the place fudge occupies in the young male heart, try these recipes on him and hear his own answer. Each of the appended dishes was prepared by Miss Meta Given, doing research work in the home economics department of the University of Chicago, and they are the result of much experimentation.

Chocolate Fudge.

2 cups sugar
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup water
1 tsp. corn sirup
2 squares chocolate
Few grains of salt
1 tsp. butter
1/2 tsp. vanilla
Shave the chocolate so that it will melt more easily. Add the sugar, salt, milk, water and corn sirup. Cook, stirring until chocolate and sugar are melted, and then only occasionally to prevent burning, until the soft ball stage is reached, or a temperature of 234 degrees Fahrenheit. Remove from fire and add the butter. Cool until almost lukewarm, 110 degrees, add flavoring and beat vigorously until when a little is dropped from the spoon it will hold its shape. Pour into oiled tins and mark in squares.

Cocoanut Candy.

1 1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup evaporated milk
1/4 cup water
Put butter into granite saucepan; when melted, add sugar, milk and water, and stir until sugar is dissolved. Heat to boiling, and cook to the soft ball stage. Remove from fire, add cocoanut and vanilla, cool to 110 degrees Fahrenheit and beat until creamy and mixture begins to sugar slightly around edge of pan. Pour into buttered pan and when cool mark in squares.

RATE INCREASE POSTPONED

Columbus, Dec. 14, (UP)—The public utilities commission today suspended for three months, the second rate increase proposed by the Logan Gas company.

The rate would affect 72 cities and villages and would be in addition to a new schedule of rates filed last February.

The suspension dates from today. In announcing its decision, the commission said the suspension is designed to allow more time for investigation of the proposed increase.

SHORT STORIES OF THE BUCKEYE STATE

The One Laugh in the Occasion.

Only once did Abraham Lincoln provoke a smile by what he said in the several short addresses he made on the occasion of his visit to Columbus on his way to Washington to be inaugurated. Great responsibilities were to be assumed by him, and the president-elect showed that he fully realized the fact. He had addressed the legislature and state officials in the hall of the house and then went to the west steps of the capital and from them spoke to a throng of people who filled the yard before him. Here he said:

"Knowing as I do that any crowd drawn together as this has been, is made up of citizens hereabout, and that in this county of Franklin, there is a great difference of political sentiment—those agreeing with me having a little the shortest row,"—here he smiled and the audience interrupted with laughter—"from this, and the circumstances I have mentioned, I infer that you do me the honor to meet me here without distinction of party. I think that this is as it should be. Many of you who were not favorable to my election were favorable to the election of the distinguished senator from the state in which I reside.

"If Senator Douglass had been elected to the presidency in the late election, I think my friends would have joined heartily in meeting and greeting him on his passage through your capital, as you have met me today. If any other candidate had been elected, I think it would have been altogether becoming and proper for all to have joined in showing honor quite as well to the office and the country as to the man. The people themselves are honored by such a concentration. I am doubly grateful that you have assembled here to give me this greeting. It is not much to me, for I shall soon pass away from you, but we have a large country and a great future before us, and the manifestation of good will toward the government and affection for the Union which you exhibit are of immense value to you and your posterity forever. In this point of view it is that I thank you most heartily for the exhibition you have given me, and with this allow me to bid you an affectionate farewell."

Franklin county was then, and continued to be for many years after the Civil War, overwhelmingly Democratic. This Lincoln knew, and his allusion to it was the only approach to humor on the occasion of his visit.—J. H. Galbraith in Columbus Dispatch.

IN MEMORIAM

Editor Union-Herald:—Mattie Jane Meyers, one of eight children was born to Francis and Elmira Thatcher in Fairfield county, Ohio, July 22, 1873. On January 29, 1890, she was united in holy wedlock to W. A. Meyers of Stoutsville, Ohio, where she resided until her death. To this union were born two daughters, Blanche M., of Stoutsville, Ohio, and Ruth P. Creager of Toledo, Ohio. Thru holy baptism and confirmation administered by the Rev. J. A. Seitz she became a member of Heidelberg Reformed church of Stoutsville, Ohio, in whose communion she remained an active and faithful member until her death. God called her to her eternal reward on November 28, 1925, aged 52 years, four months and six days. She was preceded in death by father, mother, three sisters and two grandchildren; Nevin and Vause Creager. She leaves to mourn their loss a husband, two daughters, a sister, Mrs. Rose Hasson, of Columbus, Ohio; three brothers, Frank Thatcher, of New Holland, Ohio and Thomas and John Thatcher of Columbus, Ohio, one granddaughter, Nedra Creager, and a host of friends who knew and loved her.

She gave expression to her character, thru her dutifulness as a wife; her kindness and love as a mother, her unselfish service to the community, and her devotion to her God and His blessed church. Always of a cheerful disposition, hers was a life of sacrifice and service with St. Paul we can say "I have fought a good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give to me at that day; and not to me only, but also to all them that have loved His appearing."

Perhaps the most hopeless combination on earth is that of a jay walker and a jay driver.

INTERESTING MEETINGS NOW BEING HELD AT

The Chamber of Commerce Sessions, Address by Mr. Howard Orr Tonight.

The chamber of commerce is giving their best to help the community and help you. Are you giving them the best you have? Each week that we hear from our local industries we realize the importance of Circleville as a shipping center. Last week we learned that the Pickaway Dairy pays the Express company from $800 to $1000 each month. That they buy milk from 550 farmers a week and made 450,000 pounds of butter last year and distributed 500 gallons of milk a day. is no small concern and further they have in their employ ten married men with families. It that a help to Circleville?

The chamber of commerce is sponsoring the idea of lighted Christmas trees along the street curb during the holiday season. The cost is nothing compared with the benefits derived, since we are on the main road of travel and even Santa would detour to come and see the beautiful sight. Give the committee your cooperation when they see you.

We have heard from the Pig club boy that was given a trip to Chicago stock yards. He thoroughly enjoyed the trip and will always remember the chamber of commerce for their making it possible for him to take a trip like this, which was a trip of a lifetime to him.

Tonight we will hear about Circleville's oldest and biggest industry, "canning." Howard Orr will tell us about it and if you miss this meeting just blame yourself, for you know that Howard knows the canning business and all that goes with it and you can benefit by hearing him.

STEALING CHRISTMAS LAMPS.

About as small a thing that could be perpetuated by boys was the theft of electric lamps last night off Christmas trees.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT.

When we awake Christmas morning we like to see snow on the ground, because it seems more like Christmas. If it snows or is icy nothing would be a more practical gift than a set of Weed Chains for the car. They are something useful the year round and greatly appreciated. We have them all sizes, for high pressure and balloon tires.
